Baker Selected as Public Services Employee of the Year

Brad Baker, emergency services coordinator with Santa Rosa County, was recognized as the Santa Rosa County Public Services Employee of the year at today's board of county commission meeting. Employed with Santa Rosa County since February 1988, Baker initially held the positions of 9-1-1 communication specialist, shift supervisor, and was promoted to operations chief in 2006. He was selected as employee of the year for his vast experience in public safety and his contributions to effectively managing numerous types of incidents.

Baker excels in his duties of maintaining and strengthening relationships with fire departments, monitoring response times, developing strategies for quality emergency response while continuing to provide organization, leadership and training in fire services, emergency medical services, and emergency management. In addition, he has served as a volunteer firefighter since 1987 and currently volunteers as the Allentown Volunteer Fire Department Chief.
